The Life, Legacy and the Lost Library Books of Leonhard Euler

Abstract: April 15 is the birthday of Leonhard Euler - one of the greatest and most prolific mathematicians in history. This talk will examine the life of Euler, and will discuss some of his major accomplishments, in fields ranging from number theory to geometry. We will also tell stories of the speaker's role in creating the online "Euler Archive", and of the fascinating old books by Euler he discovered in several libraries.
